CIV-2022-409-000581	Inicio Limited v The Earthquake Commission	General Proceeding	Property comprising of four units in Cashel Street, Linwood, Christchurch, damaged in the Canterbury Earthquake Sequence (particularly between September 2010 and February 2011). Claims lodged with and accepted by EQC for the damage. Plaintiff purchased the units in early 2013, taking assignment of the claims. In July 2013 plaintiff opted out of EQC's managed repair programme and chose to repair the damage independently of EQC. EQC scoped repair works necessary to meet the statutory standard and paid an opt-out payment for the repairs. The completed repairs were more extensive than the scoped repairs and cost more than the opt-out payment. Plaintiff contacted EQC in late 2019 who made an additional payment in early 2020 for costs incurred in the additional repairs, but was not enough to reimburse the difference. In June 2020 EQC agreed to scope and cost the completed repairs in order to cash settle the difference. EQC scoped, costed, and made a parallel settlement payment for another property owned by the plaintiff, but did not scope and cost the completed repairs for this property as agreed, and made no further payment. Plaintiff alleges breach of statutory duty and seeks judgment, interest and costs. Plaintiff alleges breach of the Fair Trading Act 1986 and seeks an order, interests and costs. Plaintiff alleges negligence and seeks judgment, interest and costs.	8/12/2022		TC after 24/02/2023	Richard Hargreaves, Wynn Williams, Plaintiff [awaiting Statement of Defence]	NO

Property insured under an AMI Market Value House Insurance Policy. Claim lodged with EQC and settlement sum paid on or about 20 March 2018. Claims lodged with the defendant. CIV-2022-409-000557	Scott David Cambus v The Earthquake Commission	General Proceeding (Repairs)	Property at Cuffs Road, Christchurch, damaged in the Canterbury Earthquakes Sequence. Claim by the original owner accepted by EQC who arranged for the assessment of damage, scope of repair and costing, and for the repair work to be carried out. EQC obtained a structural assessment report and building consent but later cancelled the building consent and produced a scope change summary without the repairs recommended by the report. On or about 13 July 2020 the property was purchased by the plaintiff who took assignment of rights under the original owner's EQC claim. Plaintiff became aware of damage that EQC did not repair to the standard in the Act. In August 2021 EQC offered a cash settlement letter that indicated the total repair cost would be over-cap, but paid a cash amount purportedly pursuant to its statutory obligation to repair the natural disaster damage. Plaintiff alleges breach of statutory obligation and negligence, and claims damages in the amount required to repair/reinstate the house (above the payment made by EQC to the plaintiff), loss of rent costs, general damages and interest.	25/11/2022		TC after 13/02/2023	Jeremy Morris, Andrew Ferguson, Shine Lawyers, Plaintiff [awaiting Statement of Defence]	NO
