REASONS

[1] The applicant's application for leave to appeal against a judgment of Harrison J¹ was dismissed on 18 December 2015.² A recall application was dismissed on 10 February 2016.³ A second recall application was dismissed, by handwritten notation, on 10 March 2016.

[2] The applicant has now filed a further recall application; this time addressed to the 10 March 2016 decision. This application is also dismissed.

[3] The applicant's conduct in relation to the judgment of Harrison J is an abuse of process; hence the direction in the order band.
