Wellington High Court - update

The Wellington High Court building experienced damage in the earthquake that is still being assessed by structural engineers, who are undertaking a more detailed examinations. Until these assessments are completed, the building will be closed until further notice.

However the High Court will continue to operate. From Monday 21 November, the Wellington High Court registry will be based on the sixth floor of the Wellington District Court (43-49 Ballance St). Lawyers or members of the public wanting to file documents can do so there. All other contact details for the High Court (phone and email) remain the same.

High Court matters will be rescheduled to other courtrooms in Wellington. The court was due to complete its last fixture on December 16. Daily lists of fixtures and their locations continue to be published on the this website.
